

Braving Fiery Waters

A faith-filled time travel adventure

Marina Stone planned an ideal family vacation, perfect for reconnecting with her two teenagers after their father's death. But those plans go drastically away when she time sails to the White Cloud in the year 1849. Now she must face her greatest fears and complete a mystery mission before she can return to her life and children. But what if they no longer truly need her or want her?

READER REVIEWS

"I couldn't put it down until it was finished. 5 stars for a job well done! For realistic characters and being fast paced. Loved every minute of it."

Lori

"Not only was the story engaging, but the message was clear and encouraging. If you enjoy Gabrielle Meyer's Timeless series, you should give the Time Sailors series a try! "

About Sarah

Sarah Hanks is a multi-award-winning author of split-time Christian fiction. She and her husband have ten children, a couple of whom seem to have inherited their mother's love for playing with words and crafting stories. Though Sarah dreams of a cabin by the beach, the family lives jammed together in beautiful chaos near St. Louis, Missouri. She buys earplugs in bulk.
